ATTORNEY GENERAL E. T. ENGLAND

Edward Theodore England, son of A. J. S. and Mary E. (Welch) England, was born and reared on a farm in Jackson County, West Virginia. During his boyhood, he attended, in a limited way, the public schools of his native county; later was a student in the public schools of Bramwell, Mercer County.

After becoming large enough to perform manual labor to any advantage, he would work on a farm and at public works in the summer season, and on the earnings thus accumulated, pursued his studies at school in the winter season. He entered the Concord Normal School at Concord, (now Athens) Mercer County, in the fall of 1889, graduating there-from in 1892. After graduation he taught school for several years in order to procure money to further continue his education. He continued his studies at the Concord Normal School taking the academic course in the years 1893 and 1895, taking a special course, among other things, in Latin and German.

Later he entered the Southern Normal University at Huntingtod, Tennessee, graduating there-from in 1898 in law, receiving the L. L. B. degree; in 1900 he graduated from this Institution in the scientific course, receiving the B. S. degree.

He started the practice of law at Oceana, Wyoming County, West Virginia, moving to Logan County in the year 1901.

He was married December 25, 1901, at Moulton, Iowa, to Huldah Leoma Lenberg, daughter of Peter and Maggie Lenberg. They have the following children, Arline, age twenty-one; Max age sixteen and Marjorie age eleven. Arline is a senior this year at the University, completing her A. B. course.

In 1903 he was elected to the State Senate from the Eighth Senatorial District composed of the counties of Kanawha, Boone and Logan, and re-elected in 1912. He served on many important committees, being Chairman of the Judiciary Committee for the sessions of 1911 and 1913, and floor leader of the Senate for both these sessions. He was President of the Senate for the 1915-1916 session, and by virtue of said office was Lieutenant Governor of the State for two years.

He presided over the first meeting of Lieutenant-Governors held at Rhea Springs, Tennessee, on June 9-12 1915.

He is a member of the Knights of Pythias; Independent Order of Odd Fellows; Benevolent Protective Order of Elks and Loyal Order of Moose. He was Grand Chancellor of Knights of Pythias in 1921. He belongs to the Kiwanis Club at Charleston and is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

In 1916 he was elected Attorney-General of the State and re-elected in 1920.

His father died in 1899, but his mother, now at the advanced age of eighty-two is still living and resides at Beckley, West Virginia.

As President of the Senate, Mr. England's rulings were eminently fair and impartial. He possessed rare ability as a parliamentarian, his decisions as presiding officer of the Senate were rarely questioned.

As Attorney General he had many important cases and questions to grapple with. One of his first duties was to defend the State and members of the Legislature in the Supreme Court of Appeals of the United States in the famous Virginia Debt case, in which it was sought in a mandamus proceeding to compel the Legislature to provide ways and means by which the judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States should be liquidated. This litigation was finally adjusted with a large savings to the State. He has had much litigation to look after in the Supreme Court of Appeals in this State, the Supreme Court of the United States, and in the other courts in which the State was interested.

His construction and interpretation of the various statutes, among the legal fraternity, have been generally conceded to be correct, and in this, as well as the many other official duties he has performed as Attorney General he has shown his legal ability.

August 8, 1922, at San Francisco, California, he was elevated Vice President of the National Attorneys General Association.

At Minneapolis, Minnesota, August 27, 1923, he was elected President of the Association, which position he now holds.

FOREWORD

A FOREWORD INTIMATES THAT WHICH IS TO COME. THE WEST VIRGINIA WE KNOW AND LOVE IS THE FOREWORD OF THE WEST VIRGINIA OF FIFTY YEARS HENCE.

ALWAYS THERE WILL BE PROGRESS, VIRILITY, HONOR, AS THE TREAD OF PROGRESS LIGHTLY PASSES, LAYING WASTE TRIBES AND PEOPLES, BUILDING CITIES OUT OF PRAIRIES, SCATTERING WIDE ACCUMULATED WISDOM, GUIDING THE ADVANCE OF CIVILIZATION ALONG A WELL BLAZED TRAIL TO A GLORIOUS END FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY.

All things have a beginning, and we, as the class of '26, had ours in September 1922. The group that graduated that year was a fine one, outstanding in every sense of the word. We noted this fact and although mere freshmen, we reasoned this way. Every graduating class is better than the present one. Therefore, by 1926 we must have a record more glorious than the classes of '22, '23, '24 and '25 all taken together. In actual practice, we did very little in our first year toward the realization of this goal. How could we, mere victims of circumstance? As we were distinguished by our caps in that freshman year we determined that before our "race was run" we would be distinguished by our deeds. However, we at least made a good beginning in that the members escaped alive in respect to regristration and hazing; won the class rush; and submitted humbly to an insignificant place on the campus.

The Sophomores at West Virginia University offer or rather force upon the Freshmen, a training course, the purpose of which is to make polished Mountaineer out of crude ones. When we returned to Morgantown in September 1923, we immediately assumed our duties as instructors in this course. A vigilance was appointed in order to keep Freshmen from "cutting classes." Because of a certain reverence for traditions we allowed the under classmen to win the class rush. However, we did change the nature of the event itself. In 1923, for the first time in the history of "class warfare" a "Push Ball Rush" occurred.

Our goal is a high one and as true Mountaineers we profess to be good citizens. We have two more years "to go" and by that time we hope to reach the summit.

As West Virginia University opened its sixty-seventh session on Monday, September seventeen in the year of our Lord nineteen hun dred and twenty-three, the members of a new class began to assemble. It was during the next few days that seven hundred and fifty beginning students, attempting matriculation, deduced that the diversity of requirements was undoubtedly instituted to bring into prominence that substance profusely displayed by every freshman—chlorophyl.

The Class of '27 held its initial meeting on the evening of the twentieth of September in Commencement Hall. It was here that Forest Poling, president of the student council, explained the traditions of the school and instructed the new-comers as to how they should comfort themselves during the first year. At this meeting, too, President Trotter outlined what University life should mean to each student and how each could achieve his purpose. The last important result of the meeting was the election of capable and willing class leaders.

Whatever our class has undertaken, it has done well. When the student council asked our assistance in providing funds to purchase a push-ball, we gave this aid willingly. In the annals of annual freshman-sophomore rushes is now recorded the victory of the Class of '27 over the sophomores on the third day of November in the first push-ball contest held on the Athletic Field. In athletics, too, our class has gained prominence to the extent that it is the first freshman team to have an undefeated season on the gridiron.

The history of the class is merely begun; yet its achievements thus far indicate what it is capable of doing. We are certain, therefore, that the succeeding years will prove that the members of this class are true Mountaineers, instilled with the faith that "Mountaineers build their own mountains and climb them."

SOCIETY

PAN-HELLENICS

The social season opened auspiciously November 2, 1923, with a formal Pan-Hellenic. Barrett's Old Gold and Blue Orchestra played a delightful program of twelve dances. The Armory was attractively decorated with festoons, banners and pennants, but really no decorations were necessary to add to the gaiety of the evening. A number of fraternities entertained with dinner partis before the dance.

The committee on arrangements for the second Pan-Hellenic dance of the year received many congratulations upon the success of this affair. The Armory was beautifully decorated in festooning of old gold and blue, the work of J. L. Turner, local decorator. Every moment of the evening was thoroughly enjoyed from the time Graff's orchestra of Punxutawney, Pa., began their clever and excellent program of dances until the last strains of music gave warning that the happy hours were ended.

UNIVERSITY DANCES

The first University dance on November 10, was a huge success. A huge crowd of students enjoyed the program played by Dick Willhide's Collegians and informal hours were observed. The favors were pretty gold and blue programs.

On Saturday night, Feb. 23, the second University dance was given. The affair was informal and planned with suggestions of Washington's birthday—the favors being in keeping with this holiday.

CADET HOPS

The first cadet hop, November 14, was of formal appointments. The Armory was decorated most elaborately for the occasion and Edgar Barrett and his players furnished an unusually interesting program of dances. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

The "stadium dance" added another successful social function to the list of social affairs given by the members of the Military department of the University, being given Saturday evening, March 1. The decorations were of a patriotic nature, great numbers of American flags being draped in an artistic manner. The lights were softly shaded. At least two hundred couples spent a pleasant evening dancing to the music of Willhide's nine-piece orchestra. Punch, mints and nuts were served throughout the evening.

PHI KAPPA PSI

On Friday evening, November 16, the local members of Phi Kappa Psi entertained with a formal party at their chapter house on Spruce Street. The rooms were cleverly decorated in a color scheme of black and white producing the effect of a checker-board. Music was furnishd by Peck Mills' Marylanders and during an intermission refreshments were served.

DELTA TAU DELTA

With the rooms transformed by flowers and ferns, chrysanthemums and the fraternity colors, the dance given by Delta Tau Delta on November 17, proved most successful. Mills' Marylanders furnished music for the dancing and during the short intermission a buffet luncheon was served.

TAU KAPPA EPSILON

On Saturday, Jan. 19, the active chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon entertained at their home on High Street with a formal party. The rooms were very attractively decorated with the fraternity colors and Knutti's Orchestra played for the dancing throughout the evening.

PHI DELTA LAMBDA

A clever Japanese effect was carried out at the formal dancing party given by the active members of the Phi Delta Lambda at their chapter house, on November 16. Music was played by Dick Willhide's Collegians and in keeping with the decorations were the dance cards which were enclosed in pretty Japanese cases.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA

A unique affair was given by the members of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity at their chapter house on February 1. The lower floor was transformed into a scene from Greenwich Village and while checker board designs gave the low ceiling effect. Barrett's Old Gold and Blue orchestra furnished an interesting program of dances and toward the middle of the evening refreshments were served.

KAPPA ALPHA

The chapter house of Kappa Alpha was most attractively decorated for the mid-winter formal, January 19. The drawing room was changed into a golden bower made of banks and arches of gold crepe and serpentine. The den and library were arranged with crimson streamers and the lights shaded to contrast with the walls. The Knickerbocker Orchestra of Huntington furnished the music. A two course luncheon was served later in the evening.

PHI KAPPA SIGMA

The members of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity gave their annual formal semester party at their home in Sunnyside on January 18. The rooms of the first floor were elaborately decorated with the colors, gold and black, the setting of the dining room being entirely in black with the emblem of the fraternity in illumination. The orchestra for the evening was Peck Mills' Marylanders and during the intermission a delightful buffet luncheon was served.

Military Ball

"Dancing's a touchstone that true beauty tries, Nor suffers charms that nature's hand denies."
—Jenyns.

Monday, February 4, a golden crescent moon and silver stars looked down upon the crowning social event of the scholastic year—the West Virginian University Military Ball of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. The Armory was most effectively decorated in its miles and miles of festooning in national colors. Beautiful in itself was the drop ceiling representing a summer sky. Shaded lights cast a soft glow over the scene and the strains of music from Dave Harmons' orchestra floated from the elevated platform in the center of the room lending the final invitation to exquisitely gowned ladies and handsomely groomed men. The rooms adjoining the main hall were converted into card dens which were decorated in flags of the nation.

Booths were arranged to facilitate the location of partners and to shorten intermissions. Letters of the alphabet were displayed at the various booths. The gentlemen located each other by means of these letters, each man's last initial serving as an index. Betwen the hours of eleven and twelve a delicious three course supper was served by caterers from The Boston.

The guests were received by the following patrons and patronesses: President and Mrs. Frank B. Trotter, Miss Isabel Hayes, Major and Mrs. L. S. Devore, Dean Martha T. Fulton, Captain and Mrs. A. R. Whitner, Captain and Mrs. H. C. Gilchrest, Dean and Mrs. H. E. Stone, Mrs. Florence Heermans, Miss Clara Lytle, Mrs. Winger, Miss Catherine Butler, Mrs. W. H. Gallup, Mrs. Anna McKinley, Prof. Arleigh Lee Darby and Dr. A. M. Reese.

The programs were folders of blue art paper interlined with gold foil, the University colors. The young ladies were given ostrich feather bags in the pastel shades which matched their gowns. Much credit is due the members of the Military Ball social committee for their care in arranging a party of such elegant appointments.

But from its loss; to give it then a tongue
Is wise in man."
"The bell strikes one, we take no note of time,
—Young.

SETTING FOR KAPPA SIGMA CONCLAVE BALL

KAPPA SIGMA CONCLAVE BALL

Complimentary to the visiting members of Kappa Sigma fraternity who were in Morgantown to attend the annual conclave of the district, the members of Gamma Phi Chapter entertained Friday, March 21, with a formal dance of elaborate appointments. The hours were from nine to one o'clock and eighty couples spent a most delightful evening.

Under a huge canopy of scarlet, green and white, the fraternity colors the members of Mill's Marylanders of Cumberland played the program of fourteen dances. The stage was elevated and lighted by means of floor lamps with red shades. At each corner was a white column having a colored light in green and scarlet.

In the center of the colored canopy and directly over the orchestra, was hung a large ball of crystal prisms casting different colored lights over the hall. The south end of the Armory was separated from the dancing room by means of a valence of white, the entrance being blocked in the early hours of the dance by a large Kappa Sigma banner supported between two lighted columns. Between the seventh and eighth dances the bar was removed and the dancers invited to occupy the chairs at small tables on which a three-course supper was served by The Boston caterers.

The entire scheme in the decorations of the impromptu cabaret was white, the drop ceiling, the suspended lanters, tables and chair covers being a snowy white.

The favors were also an innovation, a silver loving cup bearing the fraternity crest being presented to each young lady present.

TAU DELTA THETA

An exceptionally pretty dance in University social circles was given by the men of Tau Delta Theta fraternity in their home on Wilson Avenue on January 18. The rooms were decorated with the fraternity colors, white and navy blue, intermingled with the old gold and blue University colors. Dainty Japanese lanterns were suspended from the ceiling. "Eddie's" Old Gold and Blue players supplied the music and during the intermission a delightful luncheon was served.

THETA CHI

The Theta Chi fraternity entertained delightfully with a leap year party on January 19. The unusual feature of the evening was the presence of two girl stags from each sorority, who fulfilled their office in every particular. Peck Mills' Orchestra furnished the music. The chapter house was unusually pretty with the decorations of pine, laurel, and red carnations.

SIGMA CHI

The Sigma Chi fall formal was held at the chapter house, November 17. A four course dinner of lavish appointments was served at unique tables set for four. Each table carried a color scheme of old gold and sky blue with a center piece of a candle which held a shade bearing the fraternity crest. The house was very effectively decorated with minature mirrors covering the walls which reflected the many-colored lights about the room. Barrett's Old Gold and Blue Orchestra played an unusually good program of ten dances.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

The local chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon entertained for the Denishawn Dancers with a dinner and dance of formal appointments at the Ortolan, December 5. Ted Shawn a member of the fraternity, gave a very clever address, as did his wife, Ruth St. Dennis. Victor Willhide's Collegians played. The tables were beautifully decorated with jars of white roses and hand painted place cards were used.

PI BETA PHI

Rooms of the chapter house were attractively decorated with pine and lighted by means of candles for the pretty formal dance given by Pi Beta Phi sorority Saturday, Jan. 25. The musical program was supplied by Edgar Barrett's Old Gold and Blue players. The novel features of the evening were the dance programs which were made in the form of a letter to the folks at home. They were addressed to Dear Ma and Dear Pa, and contained an interesting estimate of the dancer's opinion of his or her partner. An enjoyable buffet luncheon was served throughout the evening.

DELTA GAMMA

Members of the Alpha Xi Chapter of Delta Gamma were charming hostesses Friday, Jan. 12, to a large number of their friends at the annual formal mid-winter dance. The rooms were attractively banked with palms ferns and greenery over which the lights were softly shaded. Dance programs, handsomely embossed in gold and silver, contained ten dances and two extras played by Dick Willhyde's Collegians. During the evening an elegant buffet luncheon was served.

CHI OMEGA

Their house on Carson street was gay in its festoons, cardinal and straw the sorority colors. Varigated bolloons floated about lending a most festive air to the party.

Barrett's Old Gold and Blue orchestra played a delightful program and between the eighth and ninth dances a delicious luncheon was served.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

A party of unusual appointments was given on Saturday night, Dec. 8, when the girls of Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained at a formal dance. The rooms were heavily hung with pine branches among which shown owl lights.

At one end of the hall a large yellow moon cast its beam over the dancers. An interesting program of dances was played by Barrett's Old Gold and Blue. The feature dance of the evening was the Kappa special for which Owl lights only were used.

ALPHA XI DELTA

The young ladies of Alpha Xi Delta sorority entertained on Saturday, Jan. 12, in their home on Willey Street, with a unique formal dance known as "a match dance." The decorations were in keeping with the leap year. One room was decorated to represent the flame, another the smoke and the third the ashes.

Willhyde's Collegians played the program of the evening and a two course luncheon was served during intermission, favors for the young men were match cases and the young ladies received dainty engagement books.

ALPHA THETA ZETA

A pretty winter dance was the formal party given by the girls of Alpha Theta Zeta sorority at their home on Willey street Saturday evening, Jan. 12. The rooms were transformed into a winter landscape with pine trees, icicles and snowballs in profusion. The stairway was banked with pine and artificial snow. The entire scene presented a dazzling spectacle. An interesting program of dances was supplied by a local orchestra and luncheon was served during the intermission.

CHI DELTA PHI

Chi Delta Phi held their winter formal dance on Saturday evening, Jan 12. The house was most attractively decorated in the sorority colors, orchid and purple.

The orchestra played a program of twelve dances and punch was served throughout the evening. Later on the guests enjoyed delightful refreshments.

CO-ED PROM

A novel featrue of the social program was the Co-Ed Prom on the evening of Dec. 8, when practically everyone of the five hundred girls arrayed herself in her best gown and escorted some fair maid or was escorted to the Armory. Sorority houses and dormitories were deserted. The unfortunate (those who could not get near enough for a peep) pined in fraternity houses and retired early while the fortunate maids danced merrily to Vic Willhyde's entrancing music amid a background of color and soft lights.

SENIOR DANCE

One of the prettiest and gayest parties of the year was the Senior Dance given Saturday, March 29. The Armory was beautiful with its dropped ceiling or red and white festooning, its softly shaded lights and cozy card corners. Barrett's Old Gold and Blue played a delightful program of twelve dances and the dance was proclaimed by all to be the best Senior dance yet held.

JUNIOR PROM

Among the most elaborate dances of the year was the Prom given by the Junior class in honor of the Seniors, April 25. The University colors were used most effectively in carrying out a checkerboard design. This formed a pretty canopy beneath which the dancers frolicked gayly to the music of Kentucky Serenader's orchestra. In keeping with the decorations were the dainty programs of Gold and Blue checked. Light refreshments were served throughout the evening.

GYM PARTY

Invitations in the form of tennis racquets, basketball pennants and baseballs were received by all the girls who had shown an interest in Women's Athletics. The occasion was that of the Senior-Sophomore Gym Party given for the Freshmen and Juniors. The class colors and various sport articles such as dumb bells, tennis racquets etc., formed very unique decorations. After an hour or two of games and contests in which every girl clad in her sport togs, took an active part, lemonade and popcorn baseballs proved refreshing.

LEAP YEAR DANCE

Altogether new in the University social circles was the Leap Year dance given in the Armory, Saturday, April 5. The tables were reversed for once and this time the boys experienced the heart-breaking anxiety of wondering whether they would get a bid. However those fortunate ones seemed to thoroughly enjoy the fair damsels tagging after them.

Miscellaneous

TORCH AND SERPENT

The annual dance of Torch and Serpent, the honorary society of Greek Letter Fraternities was held in the Armory on Friday, Dec. 14th. The society colors, red and black, were used most effectively in carrying out the decorations. Dave Harmon and his orchestra served to make this an unusually delightful affair.

VARSITY CLUB DANCE

The University Armory was the scene of another pretty formal dance on Saturday evening, Feb. 9, when the Varsity Letter Club entertained in honor of the athletes of the University. Hours were from eight-thirty to eleven-thirty and the appointments were elaborately planned for the occasion. A canopy of gold and blue was built for the dancers, the festooning being draped from the center of the room and reaching to the floor on either side. Suspended from the center and along the sides were numerous lanterns of unique shape in Old Gold and Blue. Programs which were of blue and dainty gold embossing, contained twelve dances and two extras for which the music was furnished by Barrett's orchestra.

Y. W. C. A. EVERY MEMBER BANQUET

Covers were laid for two hundred and fifty members of the Young Women's Christian Association at the third annual every member banquet, which was held in the refactory of the Methodist Episcopal church Feb. 22.

The guests were received by Miss Estelle Rowe, the president. Miss Catherine Butler general secretary and Miss Catherine Smith, chairman of the banquet committee.

Miss Frances Zimmerman toastmistress for the evening, introduced the topic "The Balanced Life." Miss Gladys Scranage responded to the toast, "The Balanced Ration." Miss Virginia Sweeney spoke on the subject, "Too Much Jazz." Miss Julia Bates Welch had for her subject "Insomnia."

Dean Martha Fulton gave a talk on "The Eight Hour Day" and Miss Elizabeth Johnson of the class of 1923 presented the address of the evening, "Right Values." The tables were attractively decorated in American flags and streamers. The program for the evening was concluded with stunts from the four classes. "Wild Nell" was presented by the Freshman class. This stunt received the prize and was in charge of Miss Ruth Deffenbaugh. Miss Mildred Johnson presented the Sophomore production, "A Vision of Fair Ladies." "A Visit to the Art Museum of the University in 1999" was the act contributed by the Junior girls, Miss Margaret Loudin being the director. The Senior feature was "The Minuet" and an interesting silhouette story presented by Miss Madelyn Williams, assisted by Miss Fairy Harsh.

WOMAN'S HALL FORMAL

A most delightful event of the social calendar was the mid-year dance held Jan. 11 in Woman's Hall on Maiden lane. The parlor and halls of the first floor were prettily transformed by attractive dceorations of blue and gold streamers and balloons. More than one hundred couples spent a delightful evening dancing to the music of Barrett's Old Gold and Blue orchestra.

BETA THETA PI

The young men of Beta Psi chapter of Beta Theta Pi entertained on Saturday evening, March 21, in their chapter house on Foundry street with the regular formal party of the second semester. In addition to the active members a large number of local guests and visitors from out of the city were present. A program of fourteen dances was played by Edgar Barrett's Old Gold and Blue orchestra. The house was most attractively decorated. Rose shaded and tall vases of American beauty roses were placed about the room, under the artistic canopy of festooning.

SIGMA NU

On Saturday evening, March 22, the Sigma Nu fraternity entertained at their annual spring formal dinner dance at seven o'clock at the Ortolan banquet hall, where a delicious four course dinner was served. The tables were lovely with their centerpieces of white roses and plumosa. Throughout the dinner the strains of Barrett's Old Gold and Blue orchestra floated over the party adding much to the gaiety and laughter. At eight-thirty the party adjourned to the chapter house on Walnut street where an interesting program of dances was played by the Peck Mills orchestra of Cumberland, Maryland. Confetti, gay trumpets and grotesque caps of all colors contributed to the festivity.

PI BETA PHI'S AT WHITE HOUSE

Pi Beta Phi sorority held their eastern conference April 10th. and 13th. at Washington, D. C.

There was a reception held at the White House at which the fraternity presented to the White House a portrait of Mrs. Coolidge painted by Howard Chandler Christi. Mrs. Coolidge is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Secretary and Mrs. Henry Wallace entertained with a reception. A founders Day banquet was held at the New Willard Hotel celebrating the sororities fifty-seventh anniversary. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, one of America's foremost women, was the principal speaker. West Virginia chapter was represented by Misses Dorothy Bone, Jenny Cairns, Arline England, Ruth McClain, Ruth Deffenbaugh, Mary Gail Tyree, Virginia Lee Maxwell, Margaret Bowers, Mary Everly, Rebecca Wade, Margaret Bone, Edna Douglas, Madalen Blatchford, Nell Phillips and Ruth Hines. Many alumni of the Chapter also attended.

SKETCH OF WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY STADIUM

The Need for a Stadium

A sound mind in a sound body is more than an ideal condition. It applies particularly to the welfare of the young men and women of the State of West Virginia. Its enormous resources will remain undeveloped or useless if the state depends upon physical strength alone to recover these raw materials. Through the active direction of brain power, or combination of mind and body, this state will forge to the front in wealth of mind and materials. To bring about just such an era will be part of the contribution to the state through the use of a stadium for outdoor exercises and contests.

No great educational institution today is without the equipment of units that make for development of both mind and body. The one is a complete supplement or complement of the other, depending upon which policy is stressed as more important. West Virginia University takes the stand that the education of students for future service as citizens will produce greater results by bringing about progress in both mental and physical education. Too long has the University suffered through lack of facilities to give proper attention to the physical training of its men and women. Too long the state has suffered through a lack of able leaders who were both mentally and physically fit to assume the duties of leadership. Now is the time to remedy this condition. A great outdoor training ground will be a part of the program to be carried out that will help to remedy this situation.

Do not become confused with the idea that the stadium will permit only the intercollegiate contests to which the public always is a welcome visitor. It is necessary that the spirit of an institution be progressive. Through intercollegiate contests a unit in the system is created an nurtured, that undefinable element known as college spirit. West Virginia has such a progressive college spirit, in fact relatively better than many other large institutions when one considers the limited facilities through which it is created.

But the University needs the Stadium, not only for physical education of its students, or for intercollegiate contests worthy of the reputation of the school. The state has an inherent pride in the growth of its institutions and its citizenship. The construction of this great outdoor training ground will help to keep the state in the front rank among progressive states not only in realizing the wealth of its material resources but in increasing the wealth of its citizenship.

REVIEW OF THE 1923 FOOTBALL SEASON

Barring that last sad chapter in the Mountaineer football history of 1923, which was enacted on a swampy grid, before many thousands of people, Thanksgiving Day, the season was a huge success. While two possible successive undefeated seasons were rendered impossible by the Thanksgiving Day game, the Mountaineers other eight victories mark them as perhaps the greatest team ever representing West Virginia University.

During the course of the season, eight games were won and one was lost. West Virginia scored in every game and was only held below the thirteen mark in the much lamented defeat when they upheld their reputation sufficient to score two points. Four opponents were held scoreless while four scored one touchdown. Penn State was the only team to score more than one touchdown. In the nine games West Virginia compiled a total of 296 points as compared to the opposition's 41.

But mere statistics do not suffice in reciting the glories of the 1923 team. Probably the most important result of the season, as regards the entire college, was the increased prestige. By the two appearances in New York, where favorable impressions were made on large Eastern audiences, the Mountaineers made themselves known all over the country. By advertising the football team the University is advertised.

Individual laudation of some one player or group of players is useless. The praises of Mountaineer grid heroes have been sung all season. However a word regarding the coaching staffs is not amiss. By turning out the most powerful and versatile eleven in the history of West Virginia University, Dr. Clarence W. Spears proved himself as good a coach as exists in the country. The record of the team which follows is a record of the power of Dr. Spears. Of course Spears could not have accomplished what he did without the capable services of Assistant Coach Ira Rodgers, Joe Setron, Bob Hawkins, and Trainer Eddie Decoursey.

Apropos to a recital of the success of the 1923 eleven is a prediction of the team which shall represent us in the fast approaching 1924 season. Coinciding with the usual policy W. V. U. is making no wild boasts as regards the coming season. Sufficient to say, W. V. U. has almost every man of the 1923 squad returning, and with Coach Spears to guide them they should enjoy another successful season.

Summary of Events

W. V. U. 21—WESLEYAN 7

Before one of the largest crowds that ever gathered in Fairmont to witness a football game, Doc Spears' Mountaineer football contingent hopped off successfully on the 1923 flight by defeating West Virginia Wesleyan 21 to 7. The final result was far from satisfying to ardent West Virginia followers, as wild predictions had conceded the Spearsmen an overwhelming victory. However, the Wesleyan eleven flashed unexpected strength and the Mountaineers were forced to extend themselves for the victory.

The Mountaineers worked fast scoring all their points in the first half. Nardacci scored the first touchdown when he slipped through left tackle for two yards. West Virginia had rushed the ball within scoring distance only to have Wesleyan regain possession of it. Bullman punted poorly, the pigskin caroming off the field at the five yard mark. Nardacci scored the second tally when he took a 25 yard pass from Simon, eluded two tacklers, and squirmed over the chalk mark. The third tally came when Howard recovered Raschella's fumble on Wesleyan's 28 yard mark. Mahrt skirted the end for twenty yards. Barnum and Simon plunged it to the two yard mark from which point Mahrt slipped over. Barnum kicked all three goals.

Wesleyan made a great comeback in the last half when they held the Mountaineer machine scoreless and tallied once themselves. King went over after a concerted drive of 37 yards by the Wesleyan backfield. Bullman kicked goal.

W. V. U. 28—ALLEGHENY 0

West Virginia made up somewhat for their rather mediocre showing against Wesleyan when they trounced Allegheny 28-0 on the home lot. The Meadville eleven invaded the West Virginia hills with a do or die spirit and put up a good fight. A feature of the game was the smooth running attack of the Mountaineer backfield.

The first tally came in the first four minutes of play when Nardacci caught Judd's punt and raced back up the field for 85 yards and a touchdown. He ran through the entire Allegheny eleven and was as elusive as an eel. The second touchdown came when Davis recovered a fumbled pass by Graham on the three yard line. Pete Barnum rammed the left side of the line for the touchdown. Simon scored the third touchdown after the ball had been rushed to the seven yard line. Doc Bruder scored the fourth and last tally in the third quarter when he emulated Nardacci's elusiveness by squirming eleven yards through the line and through the goal line. Barnum kicked all four goals.

W. V. U. 13—PITT 7

The most pleasing result of the entire 1923 season occurred when the Mountaineers duplicated their feat of 1922 and humiliated Pitt 13-7. Pitt has long been recognized as West Virginia's greatest rival and the second victory in two years gave the Mountaineer followers an immense satisfaction. Through the entire contest the Mountaineers displayed undoubted supremacy, Pitt's lone score coming as the result of a break.

QUINLAN BARNUM McMILLAN DAVIS

After two great marches up the field which were terminated under the shadow of the Pitt goal posts, the Mountaineers came back with renewed vigor in the second quarter. An attack featured by the running of Nardacci brought the ball to the two yard line. With 6,000 rooters begging for a touchdown Nick responded again and squirmed over the line. Ekberg's kick was blocked. The second tally came shortly after the first in the same quarter. After an exchange of kicks the Mountaineers began a great march up the field. On the three yard line Ekberg shot a short pass to Nardacci who fell across the line. Gus kicked goal and the score stood 13-0. The Mountaineers played a great game in the second half but lacked the necessary punch to score. They continued to show their superiority until the final whistle.

The Pitt tally came when a fumble was recovered by Pitt on our 27 yard line. With two mighty rushes by Gustafson, the maddened Swede, the ball was carried over.

No difference what the future may hold in the way of victories or defeats over the Panther, the 1923 game is immortal in the annals of West Virginia grid history.

W. V. U. 81—MARSHALL 0

After the strenuous attack on the Smokey City Panther, the Mountaineers relaxed and had little trouble romping over Marshall 81-0, before a disgruntled crowd of spectators. The Mountaineers scored at will during the entire game although Marshall put up good opposition at all times.

The game did little else than show the strength of the Mountaineer reserve forces. After the varsity had scored twice in the first quarter, the scrubs took charge and made a good account of themselves. An account of the scoring would merely be monotonous. Needless to say, every West Virginia backfield man injected into the game, ran wild. Forty-six men were used in the contest.

The only satisfaction given to the crowd of West Virginians who had turned out to see a football game was a greatly increased confidence in the strength of the reserves.

W. V. U. 13—PENN STATE 13

The first dark shadow that loomed on the 1923 record was the 13-13 tie with Penn State at the Yankee Stadium, New York. The Mountaineers almost equalled the wildest hopes of their fans when they were leading 13-7 in the last few minutes of play but the great Harry Wilson rose to the occasion and scored the tying tally.

West Virginia's stock took a terrible slump in the first three minutes of play when Penn State was fortunate in getting a break of the game and gaining a seven point handicap. Nardacci fumbled and Helbig, State sub-back recovered on West Virginia's 25 yard line. Wilson, brightest of Nittany luminaries, made two yards on his first attempt. Then on a delayed pass he squirmed around the Mountaineer left end and for the score that brought dismay to thousands of Mountaineer hearts. Wilson boosted the total to seven when he sent the pigskin neatly between the Mountaineer's upright.

The rest of the half was a nightmare to West Virginians. Their morale badly broken by the breath taking touchdown, the Mountaineer offensive failed to get under way and State was always threatening. The badly frightened horde from the hills of West Virginia managed to hold the Lions during the remainder of the half and when the whistle blew 6,000 palpitating hearts dropped back to normal.

After Dr. Spears had administered one of his scathing lectures the Mountaineers came back with a vengeance. Early in the third quarter Tallman proved his right to the title of "Trusty" when he recovered Patton's fumble on State's 26 yard mark. After a thrust at the line, Simons tossed a neat pass to Nardacci who negotiated the remaining distance to the goal line in great fashion. Ekberg kicked goal. Again the Mountaineers responded in the final quarter. After a well executed drive towards the goal line Barnum took a neat pass from Ekberg and circled right end for the tally. Ekberg failed at goal.

With the Mountaineers leading 13-7 and only a few minutes remaining to play it looked like a victory. However, Harry Wilson was yet to be reckoned with. Johnston returned a punt to West Virginia's 26 yard mark by a sensational side line run. Then a ferocious attack featuring Wilson took the ball across. Mountaineer fans almost died from heart failure while Dick Schuster, the "never-miss" who had been sent in to kick the extra point, prepared to kick goal. He failed.

W. V. U. 27—RUTGERS 7

The Mountaineers dissolved any poor impression that might have been made in the Penn State game when they returned to New York on the following Tuesday a week and downed Rutgrs 27-7. Judging from the terrible gas attack of Foster Stanford, Rutger's propaganda slinging coach, West Virginia was in for a terrible lacing. Foster was forced to literally "eat" his statements.

Duplicating their feat of 1922, the Mountaineers tallied in every period. The big New Jersey eleven, whose only asset against the Mountaineers was their abundant portion of "beef," looked bad. During the course of the fiasco, the Mountaineers made 22 first downs while Rutgers made 8. The officials were alert and the Mountaineers suffered as many penalties as they did in all the other games of the season. Twelve off-side penalties were administered with two for holding, badly hampering West Virginia's progress.

The only Rutgers score came when Nardacci fumbled and Rutgers recovere don the twelve yard line. Hazel's attempt at goal from placement failed and Nardacci attempted to run it out from under the goal posts. He fumbled and Benkert recovered. Keiler crashed one yard through the line and across the goal. Hazel kicked goal.

W. V. U. 63—WASH-LEE 0

All feeling of vengeance towards Wash-Lee for the 13-13 tie they besmirched our 1922 record with were vented in the terrible walloping the Mountaineer machine administered at Laidley Field, Charleston, on Saturday, Nov. 10. When the score keepers had worn their last pencil out the result stood 63-0, one of the most decisive of the 1923 season.

The game throughout was a true personification of the devastating offensive the Spearsmen were capable of launching. The Mountaineers registered 36 first downs during the game while the Generals wre held to one until the final quarter when they made two more by wild forward passing. The game was featured by the many long drives made by the Mountaineer machine. Almost every touchdown came as a result of a long march to the goal post. Every member of the Mountaineer backfield was prominent in the offensive and almost every one turned in spectacular plays.

Doug Bowers, substituted for Ekberg, was the individual star of the contest with two spectacular broken field runs. At the beginning of the second half he returned the kickoff 62 yards to the Generals 13 yard line from which point the Mountaineers punched the ball over in easy fashion. Shortly afterwards he uncorked a 66 yard dash for a touchdown after a short line plunge.

It was the worst dose of kalsomine the Mountaineers ever administered to the southerners.

W. V. U. 48—St. LOUIS 0

The Mountaineers turned in an impressive victory in their last game before the final fiasco with Wash-Jeff when they defeated the St. Louis University eleven 48-0. The Billikins blamed their defeat on the rubber pants worn by the Spearsmen, because of the murky grid, but those who witnessed the game are inclined to think that it was merely football superiority which won.

Journeying clear from the banks of the Mississippi, the St. Louis eleven had ventured far into strange lands. The return journey could hardly have been less satisfactory. The game was a fairly good exhibition of football, but the westerners were hopelessly outclassed.

Nardacci was at his elusive best scoring three touchdowns. Nick performed on the slippery field like an Eskimo on a snowdrift, and had the opposition guessing at all stages. Jack Simon was as dependable as ever, and Gus Ekberg flashed his old time form at line plunging.

The decisive demonstration did little else than create an inexcusable feeling of over-confidence among Mountainer followers regarding the night-mare with W. & J.

MOANS AND GROANS

And now we come to the last and saddest chapter in our recital of the season. As has been broadcasted over all the football world, much to W. V. U.'s discredit, all hopes of an undefeated record for two seasons was blasted when the President jinx from little Washington stalked into camp and performed the impossible by defeating the Mountaineers 7-2.

We can not bring ourselves to give an account of that tearful contest. It would be too heart-rending. Suffice to say, W. & J. was battling at her best, caught the Mountaineers off-guard and the fans boastfully over confident. Their surjrising ability and successful fight for the breaks won for them.

W. V. U. can offer many alibis but is offering none. When the game was over W. & J. had seven points and W. V. U. had two. That is enough to win a football contest. They fought hard and played good football.

Mountaineers Have All-American

"Trusty" Tallman, right end on Mountaineer elevens for the past three years, was accorded next to the highets honor that can be given a collegiate football player, when he was placed at an end on Walter Camp's second All-American selection for 1923. In remarking upon his choice in "Collier's Weekly," Camp said that Tallman was chosen because of his ability to catch passes. It is a well known fact that Tallman made a fine showing in the two New York games, which Camp witnessed. Last season concluded a long period of meritorious service which Tallman has rendered for the W. V. U. gridiron representatives.

Tallman's name to a comparatively long list of Mountaineers who have been favored by Camp in his annual selections. Prominent among them have been, Errett Rodgers, Russ Bailey, and Joe Setron.

To have taken a census of all West Virginia players who were placed on All-American and All-Eastern Teams, would have been laborious as well as useless. Captain-elect Fred Graham was placed at an end on Tom Thorp's selection in a New York paper, while Nardacci, Captain Simons, Ekberg and Quinlan were chosen by several different writers.

1923 FRESHMEN FOOTBALL SQUAD

SUMMARY OF THE FRESHMAN SEASON

Never before in the annals of West Virginia football history, has a team been turned out that was as successful as the 1923 Freshman team. The well-deserved praises of that undefeated Varsity machine of 1922 have been loudly sung, but in the manner of total points scored, opponents scores, versatile offense, and impregnable defense it could hardly compare with Ward Lanham's eleven of 1923. The comparison, of course, is made considering the inferior class of teams that met the yearlings.

During the 1923 season the Freshmen played eight games and won all of them. They scored a total of 346 points, and held their opponents to a measly 19. They were only scored on in two games, namely, the Pitt Freshman tilt when Preece crossed the little Mountaineer's goal line, and in the Penn State Freshman game, when the Pennsylvanians registered twice.

The excellent defense and offense of the team can be seen by glancing at the statistics, but the most remarkable fact remains to be told. In the matter of scoring points after touchdowns, it is doubtful whether the Lanhamites were equalled by any freshman or prep school team in the country. During the season they scored 50 touchdowns and added 46 extra points. These failures occurred in the Glenville Normal, Shepherd College and Penn State Freshman games.

The success of the Freshman team is synonomous with the name of Captain Farley. Farley, a product of Charleston High School, who served two years at V. M. I. before coming here, was the greatest individual star of the season. He was especially prominent in throwing forward passes and is said to be the equal of Errett Rodgers, when the later was in his prime. Other backfield luminaries were Murrin, Hardy, Morrison, Lewis, Griffith and Simmons. Those whe were responsible for the stonewall defense put up by the line, included Kerr and Patrick at the ends, Rangely and Milligan at tackles, Straight and Jennewine at guards, and Bitonti at center.

For the first time since basketball was made a major inter-collegiate sport at West Virginia University, the court representative annexed titular honors when their phenominal season's record warranted an undisputed claim on the tri-state championship. The record of fourteen victories and two defeats is unequalled in the annals of W. V. U. In the list of victims were some of the best college teams in the tri-state, and no other claimants have ventured forth to dispute the title with Coach Stadsvold's team. In all probability, Coach Stadsvold spent his last year here. When he left several weeks ago, he said that he would probably permanently retire from the active coaching game, but if he ever did return, it would be to W. V. U.

Two members of the team will be lost by graduation, namely, Captain Pierre Hill and Doug Bowers. Both men have rendered highly meritorious service on the basketball squad during the past four years, and have established athletic records which are seldom equalled by other Mountaineers. Although these two vacancies will be hard to fill, a good nucleus for the team is found in Captain-elect Roy Hawley, Freddie Funk, the best scoring cog in the entire machine, and Natus Rohrbaugh, who formed an almost impregnable defense with Bowers. These three men, especially Funk, are rated high as collegiate basketball players and should enjoy an even more successful season in 1925. In addition to these varsity veterans, such valuable substitutes as Murrin, Oliker, Graham and Titley, will be available. There are also several men moving up from the Freshman team who are expected to make strong bids for recognition. Among them are Captain Deggie Simmons and Julian Murrin.

ROGERS, Coach

Although it is too early in the season to make any reasonable predictions as to the calibre of the 1924 baseball team, the present appearances are that Coach Ira Rodgers will mould an exceptional nine from the excellent material with which he has to work. On his squad are many veterans who have proved their worth in past seasons and at present Coach Rodgers' main worry is the development of a capable pitching staff.

"Legs" Hawley looks good to draw the catching assignment again this season, while Trusty Tallman is expected to be the most reliable hurler. Dailey and Titley are the men whom Rodgers is trying to develop into reserve pitchers.

The infield will be one of the strongest fortes of the team. Rowan will in all probability succeed Hef DeVaughn at third base. Captain Apie Weik, one of West Virginia's greatest baseball stars who has had bids from major league clubs, will take care of the short-stop position. Johnny Krosnoff, a valuable member of last year's squad, is expected to handle the keystone sack very efficiently. The development of a first baseman is more or less of a problem. Phil Pfleger has been moved in from the outfield and looks like a promising first sacker, but his lack of experience may handicap him.

The outer gardens will be tended by three veterans in Doc Bruder, the fastest man on the squad, Steve Harrick, veteran athlete here, and Copley a member of last year's squad. These three men, especially Bruder and Harrick, are among the best tri-state collegiate outfielders and are expected to cut a wide swath in the coming schedule.

1924 Track Schedule

April 19—Interfraternity track meet at Morgantown
April 26—Penn Relays at Philadelphia, Pa.
April 26—Annual Inter-class meet at Morgantown
May 3—W. Va. Wesleyan dual meet at Morgantown
May 10—U. of Pittsburgh dual meet at Pittsburgh, Pa.
May 17—Bethany College dual meet at Morgantown
May 17—West Virginia Scholastic track and field championships at Morgantown
May 24—U. of Pittsburgh Intercollegiates at Pittsburgh
May 30-31—I. C. A. A. A. A. championships at Cambridge.

Under the capable tutelage of Coach Art N. Smith, who took up the reigns dropped by Tommy Thompson last year, the track squad is progressing nicely. Although the date is early for sound predictions, it looks as though West Virginia should be represented by one of the best teams in her history. The schedule shown presents many opportunities for a good showing, and the team should register many victories.

Last year, track was converted from a minor to a major sport. Although baseball usually monopolizes the interest of Mountaineer followers during the spring sport program, the cinder path men have become more prominent recently. An excellent team was turned out last year by Coach Thompson, now at Yale, and the great amount of interest shown in the sport warranted its conversion into a major sport.

On this year's squad are many veterans, who should show their superiority against any opposition offered in the tri-state collegiate district. Chief among them is Dan D'Aiuto the sprinting sensation of last season. D'Aiuto, who reported to the track squad last year unheralded, was being hailed as a new Mountaineer star before the season was over. Other men who look good at the present writing are Captain Butts, 440 and 880, Lynn Faulkner and George Smith, two-milers; Jim Quinlan and Carl Davis, weight men; Pierre Hill, Gordon McMillan, and Grant Hall, jumps and pole vault; and Pete Barnum, javelin.

Wrestling

Although they were handicapped by a meagre schedule which prevented them from showing their marked ability, the wrestling team made a good record in the three bouts of the sesaon. On the team were two of the best collegiate wrestlers in the country; namely, Al Millender and Bill Holroyd, who won all three of their bouts. In addition to these men, Smith, Wylie, Captain-elect Tony Suder, Ira Pitsenberger, and Stoner served as regulars.

In the first bout of the season, held at the Ark, Western Maryland College offered themselves up to the sacrifice by the score of 25-0. Every West Virginia man was superior in his class, and none of them experienced any trouble in defeating their opponents. Millender won his eighth consecutive fall in 56 seconds. Navy proved a stumbling block in the next bout, and the Mountaineers were humbled 17-8. Bill Holroyd was the central figure in this bout, when he gained a time advantage over Timberlake, the man who had given Scotty Hough his first defeat. Al Millender continued his record of straight falls when he threw Simmons of Navy who was hurt in the fall, giving the official name of "default" to the decision. The University of Pennsylvania mat representation engaged the Mountaineers in the closest battle of the season. Each match was hotly contested and the final score stood 14-11. The feature of the match was Captain-elect Suder's sensational defeat of Captain Rabonowitz of the Penn team.

Special mention should be made of the valuable services rendered by Steve Harrick as coach. After Hough startled Mountaineer fandom by an unexpected resignation, Steve Harrick sacrificed his chances of wrestling on the team by assuming the responsibilities of a mentor. He proved exceptionally proficient in the coaching department and the major part of the credit is due him for the good showing made by the grapplers.

Next season, with Captain-elect Suder, Holroyd, Millender, Smith, Wylie, Ira and Ezra Pitsenberger returning, West Virginia should be well represented on the mat.

Tennis

While several valuable members of last year's tennis team have been lost through graduation, the racqueteers are again looking forward to a good season. Bill Steele of Wheeling, well known through participation in State Tennis Tournaments and as a member of West Virginia teams, will sacrifice his chances of playing on the team for duties of coach. Steele, who succeeds Captain H. L. Mumma, is fully qualified to coach the tennis men as he is an exceptional player himself and is a thorough student of the game.

The Debating Council of West Virginia University

It has been thought proper to give a short account of the activities of that organization which was the forerunner of the present natianol debating fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho, now active on the Campus. Perhaps it would be well to state that even prior to the formation of the Debating Council, the debater had found his outlet in the Parthenon and Columbian Literary Societies of the University. These societies had at best but a limited range, but they provided a nucleus, a starting place from which the finished organization finally grew.

As early as 1900 there was some interest in debating. Under President Raymond, West Virginia University belonged to the Central Oratorical League to which also belonged such institutions as Cornell, Ohio Wesleyan, and Illinois.

When Mr. C. Edmund Neil came to the University he organized a debating league which however lasted only for a few years with little or no activity to distinguish its existence.

Professor Wilbur J. Kay came to the University as head of the Public Speaking Department and was filled with enthusiasm for a debating council. At the beginning, the council received no recognition from the University authorities, but try-outs were held and various college teams were met.

As time went on, there was an increased general interest in debating and at the close of the 1922 season a committee was appointed to draw up a petition for Delta Sigma Rho. In 1923 the men engaged in two triangular debates and one dual contest while the girls took part in three dual debates.

President	HUGO BLUMENBERG
Vice President	EMILY MORRIS
Secretary	ADA BARNETT
Manager	LACY I. RICE
Girl's Manager	VIVIAN MORTON

At the last banquet Stanley B. Houck, President of Delta Sigma Rho, was present and gave a short talk and commented favorably upon the council's prospect of obtaining a charter from the national organization.

November 28, 1923, Delta Sigma Rho was installed in this University and passed into the realm of memories, having served a useful purpose by providing that preliminary organization which grew into the finished fraternity. The latter, it is hoped, will develop forensics to the fullest degree. Following is the membership of the Debating Council:

Ada Barnett	Hugo Blumenberg	Lacy I. Rice
Mary Frances Brown	Oliver Kessel	Harry L. Snyder jr.
Harlan Calhoun	Kenneth Kurtz	Virginia Sweeney
Robert T. Donley	Stanley Lawson	Opal Vincent
Marion Gross	Susan Montgomery	Veta Williams
Margaret Harpold	Vivian Morton	Brooks Bosworth
J. Frank Heflin	Stephen Morton	Max Fullerton
John Hereford	Worley Powell	Chesney Carney

Delta Sigma Rho

An account of the newly-installed debating fraternity, Delta Sigma Rho must necessarily involve some reference to the old Debating Council 1. That organization originated with the coming of Professor Wilbur J. Kay to the University as head of the Public Speaking department. He realized the need for some such body which would give those interested in forensics, a chance to engage in various sorts of public speaking. The history of the old Council is long and cannot be recounted here. Suffice to say that it provided but a makeshift at best. There was not the driving impetus of a national organization and none of the so-called fraternal spirit which is present in a fraternity. The defects of the old council were so obvious that after a year of existence, plans began to be formulated to petition Delta Sigma Rho. A petition was drawn up, showing the original development, and progress of debating in the University since the year 1900. The results of various debates were recounted and matters of general importance about th Univrsity were included.

In the Spring of 1922, at the annual banquet of the Council, Stanley B. Houck, President of Delta Sigma Rho gave an informal talk, touching upon the ideals and purposes of this fraternity, and commenting favorably upon the petition and predicting that it would be granted.

So, after a time, it was granted and on the afternoon of November 28, 1923, Delta Sigma Rho was installed. The installation ceremonies were held in the Community building in this city, under the direction of Paul S. Buchanan, professor in the public speaking department and a member of the fraternity from Wooster. There were present at this initiation many alumni of the University who had taken part in intercollegiate debates in the past and some of whom had traveled hundreds of miles to receive the honor about to be given them. Those alumni members taken in were Maurice Brooks, Homer Deem, Charles Harper, Marion Hersman, Robrt H. C. Kay, Burton Morely, Stanley Morris, Worth Rice, Virginia Armstrong, Jane Allen, Anne Cawley, Edith Casselberry, Myrtle Hayes, Grace Kelley, Emily Riggs, and Eleanor Scott Hutchinson.

The active members held a short meeting immediatelv after the initiation and elected the following officers: President, Hugo Blumenberg; Vice President, Robert T. Donley, and Secretary-Treasurer, Ada Barnett. In addition to these, other active members were Chesney Carney, John Hereford, Lacy I. Rice, Marion Gross and Velma Thompson. At the first business meeting, Harry E. Snyder, Jr., of Shepherdstown was initiated and plans were taken up to consider the work to be done by this fraternity upon the campus.

It was decided to bring the matter of debating home to students who had never before been interested in it. So the inter class debates were arranged. The first one was between the Freshmen and Sophomore teams, with fifteen faculty members presiding as judges upon the question "Resolved that all students in West Virginia University maintaining an average of 85 percent in class standing in any subject, should be excused from final examinations in that subject." The negative Sophomore team was declared the winner.

On December 12 the Junior-Senior debate was held upon the question "Resolved that beginning with the 1924 Freshman cless, no student will be graduated from West Virginia University who has not attained an average of 75 percent during the four years." The Juniors were victorious.

The final debate of the series was held on January 9 and the Juniors were winners upon the question "Resolved that no student shall represent the University in any extra-curricular activity who is not maintaining an average of 80 percent in each subject pursued." The winners were presented with a loving cup upon which their names were engraved and they will retain its possession until next year. In fostering these debates and in presenting this cup, Delta Sigma Rho believes that it did a worth while work in arousing interest in debating an bringing it into contact with the student by the discussion of questions of general interest to everyone.

Meanwhile, the intercollegiate debating contests were drawing close and the members of the fraternity began to devote themselves to preparing arguments upon both sides of the question "Resolved that the United States should immediately adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice." Following is a brief account of the various contests, questions, and results of the debates engaged in up to April 1, 1924

In men's debates, on March 6, the University negative team debated the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia on the above question and gained the unanimous decision of the judges. The members of this winning team were Harry L. Snyder. Jr., John Hereford, and Hugo Blumenberg, all members of Delta Sigma Rho.

The next day, on March 7, the question was somewhat altered to read "Resolved that the United States should adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice on the basis of the Reservations proposed by Secretary Hughes." We were also winners in this contest by a unanimous decision, over George Washington University.

On March 11 the negative team debated Washington and Jefferson at Washington on the same question and we were given the decision. The negative team in the last two debates was composed of Kenneth Kurtz, Brooks Bosworth and Hugo Blumenberg, the last named being the only member of this fraternity.

The negative team also debated Bucknell College at Morgantown on March 14 upon the same question. This too, was an open forum debate, in which no decision was given.

The girls teams were busy also. On March 28 the negative team won a debate from the University of Pittsburgh on the question "Resolved that the United States should adhere to the Permanent Court of International Justice as it is now constituted." The team was composed of Mary Frances Brown, Virginia Sweeney and Ada Barnett.

The affirmative team composed of Susan Montgomery, Fairy Harsh, and Velma Thompson won from the Ohio Wesleyan debaters upon the same question as stated above.

Geneva College defeated the negative team on March 29 on the same question. This was the same team that had met Pitt.

Thus far it is plain that the season so far has been very successful and more victories are expected in the debates to come.

One more organization sponsored by this fraternity is the Public Speaking Club. It was organized to replace the Debating Council because some sort of club was needed where those who were inexperienced in debating or public speaking of any kind, could have an opportunity to develop themselves. At the present time, the club is composed of about 40 members, has a constitution, and officers. The questions for debate are usually prepared and the discussion opened by those more experienced and then each member is required to make a two-minute speech, giving what are his own arguments upon the subject.

Such, briefly is the account of the original and development of this new fraternity. It is the first of its kind to exist at this institution. We can only look to the future to decide whether in the final analysis it will justify itself by creating among the students a larger interest in public speaking in all its various phases and placing it among the foremost Campus activities.

The Laurel

Women's Senior Honorary Society

Founded at West Virginia University, 1919

By

Mary Meek Atkeson

The purpose of The Laurel is to encourage and recognize leadership in student activities among the women of the University. In the Spring of each year such Junior women as have become eligible by activity in student affairs will be chosen to membership. The organization will strive to promote movements for the best interests of the state and for general life at West Virginia University.

Fi Bater Capar

Founded in Athens, 327 B. C. by Socrates
Flower—Roses (Four)
Colors—Brown or Green (According to season)

Foreword: The exact data and circumstances under which the fraternity was founded have until the last few months, been veiled in mystery and even now the musty archives fail to give a true account of that memorable occasion. However, with the expenditure of a vast amount of capital, the organization has at last uncovered what may prove to be a connecting link in the history of the organization.

The above mentioned research was conducted in Egypt near the old Moses chapter house, and resulted in the uncovering of the tomb of Brother L. H. C. P. Tut-Ank-Amen.

Thus far the discovery has given the following proofs:

(1) That Tut was pickled when he died; therefore he was a member of the fraternity.

(2) That a likeness of the sacred bull was carved on his coffin, therefore it has been the emblem of Fi Bater Cappar.

(3) That Cleopatra was the first Fi Bater girl.

With additional exploitation, Fi Bater Cappar soon hopes to have a true knowledge of their fraternity.

This has been on e of the most successful years in the annals of the organization. At the beginning of the fall term a number of new men were pledged, some of whom have developed into really good material. The scholastic standing has been very satisfactory. Very little trouble has been experienced with the brothers that have a slight inclination toward alcoholic beverages. The chapter house has been well taken care of and plans for remodeling are under way. The fraternity has sponsored a number of delightful social events, dances street car expeditions, spelling bees and the like and needless to say none of the girls were bored. Fi Bater Cappar is happy to announce that, with graduation, it will lose a lot of dead material and will be better able to function as an organization next year.

ZACKWELL MORGAN

According to frontier history and tradition, was one of the earliest settlers of Morgantown, emigrating from Berkeley County, Virginia. He first located in Pennsylvania but in 1786 removed to Morgan's Town. Naturally he travelled over bridle paths and by horse back.

Now travellers to the spot that Morgan selected for his home, journey over the magnificent modern highways. Over one of these—that to Fairmont—a luxurious Bus Service is operated on an hourly schedule to Rivesville where close connections are made with Electric Trains for Fairmont and points to the East, South and West.

The Busses were built by the Pierce-Arrow Company and are the last word in such vehicular construction.
